RESTING AND SLEEPING.

WASHINGTON, 7 A. M., AUG. 29.—Information just received from the Physicians' room is to the effect that the President held his own during the night, and that favorable symptoms previously noted still continue. His fever subsided about midnight, and he passed a good night, resting and sleeping well.

HOW MANY MORE STATIONS.

EXECUTIVE MANSION, 11 A. M.—At the morning dressing the President's parotid swelling had diminished sensibly in size since yesterday morning. There had been a plentiful discharge of pus during the night from three openings. Another yellow spot was discovered on the side of the face this morning, which, when pricked, permitted a free discharge of pus from another pus pocket. The wound in his body was found to be doing well. It still continues to discharge freely. The character of pus discharged is not changed materially since yesterday, but is thicker and healthier in character than a few days since. While dressing and cleaning the wound this morning the cleansing cathartic entered to the depth of fully twelve inches. Dr. Boynton, who was in the sick room the greater part of last night, says the President passed a good night, sleeping most of the time. His sleep was more natural than any night during the past week. During intervals of wakefulness his mind was perfectly clear. Once about 10 a. m., when awake, and while taking some nourishment he remarked to Dr. Boynton, evidently referring to his several relapses: "I wonder how many more stations I will have to stop at." Dr. Boynton says the President looks better and feels better. This morning the Doctor's hope is strengthened, owing to the fact that the President held his own through another day and night. He will feel content and satisfied with the continuance of this stationary period for a few days, after that he hopes the work of repair and recuperation will commence. At this hour the surgeons report the condition quite as favorable as at the morning examination.

OFFICIAL BULLETIN.

EXECUTIVE MANSION, 8:30 A. M.—The President's symptoms this morning are as favorable as yesterday at the same hour. He sleeps, awakening at intervals, a great part of the night. At these intervals he took and retained the liquid nourishment administered. His mind continues perfectly clear. Pulse 100, temperature 98, respiration 17.

THINKS THE PRESIDENT WILL LIVE.

New York, Aug. 29.—Dr. Hamilton informed a Times reporter this morning that he believes now that the President will live. "We have every reason to hope," said he, "that the improvement now noticeable will be maintained." He returns to Washington Wednesday.

THE WORST PART.

New York, Aug. 29.—Dr. Hamilton arrived this morning and said to a reporter of the Graphic, "I think you will be satisfied if I tell you the President is going to get well."

"There is no doubt of it in your mind?"

"None whatever now. I have no time now to dwell at length on the subject, and beg you to excuse me. The worst has passed away."

"Is there any indication that an abscess has formed on the President's lungs and has been discovered in one joint of his limbs, as indicated in the morning paper?"

"Neither report is true," replied the doctor, "and, furthermore, there is not the slightest indication of either."

UNFOUNDED.

EXECUTIVE MANSION, 12:15 P. M.—There were rumors after this morning's examination had been made of the President's lungs that unmistakable evidence in the shape of pus accumulation was discovered of a second or piecemeal stage of blood poisoning. At noon Dr. Reyburn said: "Since the President's condition became so low we have examined his lungs carefully every day and always found them healthy. The report that pus cavities have formed there is entirely unfounded."

NO NEW COMPLICATIONS.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—Doctor Boynton said to-day: "I made an examination of the President's lungs myself last night and found them all right. There are no new complications exhibited in the President's case and no unfavorable features which are not already known. He continues to do well."

OFFICIAL BULLETIN.

EXECUTIVE MANSION, 12:30 P. M.—At the morning dressing of the President additional points of suppuration were recognized in his swollen face which being lanced gave exit to some healthy looking pus. Openings on the exterior of the swelling are likewise discharging, but in less quantities. The tumefaction has not materially diminished in size. Nothing new has been observed in the condition of the wound. The usual rise of temperature has not yet occurred and the general condition is not materially changed since morning. Pulse 106, temperature 98.6, respiration 18.

THE BULLET HAS CHANGED ITS POSITION.

New York, Aug. 29.—The Times Washington special conveys the following important points in last night's conversation with Dr. Bliss:

The Doctor was asked: "Is there any danger of other glands being attacked?"

"I have," he responded, "gone carefully over all surgical records of war with a view to that very question, besides which, my personal experience with gun shot wounds has been very large, and I do not know of any instance where a second gland ever became involved, except in cases of distinct pyæmia, of which," he said with marked emphasis, "the President has never had. There has been no other swelling, even of the lymphatic glands. So far as I have been able to discover there have been few eruptions on the back caused by blood poisoning, but they were not glandular and they have subsided. The bullet has given no trouble and gives none. Ultimately it will be removed. It has changed its position since entering the body, working down to the vicinity of the rectum. We know pretty well where it is. I do not think it is buried in any of the muscular tissues. Of course if it is removed it will be by operation, but it will not be a severe one."

BLAINE TO LOWELL.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—The President had a good night and is having a good day. At this hour, 2 p. m., his pulse is 103, showing a decrease from the forenoon. For many days past his pulse has shown a decided increase by this time in the afternoon. His respiration is normal. All other symptoms are reported by his surgeons to be favorable.

Signed,
JAS. G. BLAINE, Sec'y.

"GO BACK, HE MUST NOT DIE!"

New York, Aug. 29.—The Post's Washington special says: As hope returns more is learned in detail of the terrible anxiety of last Friday. It appears that the surgeons after the alarm of the morning decided it was useless to longer continue the struggle and two of their number were selected to wait upon Mrs. Garfield and inform her that medical science could do no more and she must prepare for the worst. An interview which occurred between these surgeons and Mrs. Garfield will, if reports are true, be regarded as one of the most dramatic incidents in this extraordinary case. Captain Henry Marshall of this District says of the President and his family: "Mrs. Garfield heard the news and smothering her emotion arose and said: 'Gentlemen, you shall not give him up—he is not going to die; he is going to live—I feel it. I know it. Go back to your post and leave it not until every remedy is exhausted; until death itself has set its seal upon him, for I will not believe he is dying. Go back and do what you can. You cannot do more but don't give up. I am his wife and I say we will not give up until the end itself is upon us.'"

Mrs. Garfield has never surrendered more than a moment or two at a time to her grief and then she has retreated to her room and after a few moments returned to her post of duty at the President's bedside. The late gain in the President's condition is apparent in four important symptoms, viz.: Pulse lower, stomach working better, inflamed gland throwing off the disturbed contents and the original injury again resuming its healing processes. In a word, the President has successfully passed another crisis.

IN A HOPEFUL CONDITION.

New York, Aug. 29.—Dr. Frank Hamilton said to a reporter of the Evening Post: "The President is in a more hopeful condition than I have seen him at any time. There is more ground for encouragement, and I should feel greatly disappointed if he does not get well. I ascribe his improvement to other causes, wholly independent of suppuration of the gland. I have reason to believe his symptoms are not due to pyæmia, but I do not care to give those reasons at this time. I cannot conceive of anything that will defeat the wished for and now almost assured recovery. The fears that we shall sustain disappointment are unfounded I think, and my colleagues in Washington agree with me entirely."

NO PUS IN THE KNEES.

EXECUTIVE MANSION, 2:20 P. M.—Bliss said the President is getting along much more evenly than yesterday. The extreme range of pulse—since morning has not exceeded 106, and now is 103 to 104. The pulse is fuller and of a stronger character than yesterday at this hour. The patient had little fever to-day. We have examined his lungs every day; they have always been and are now in perfect condition. The respiratory murmur this morning was clear and normal, and not a single indication of abnormal symptoms. With regard to the reported existence of pus in the knee joint, who invents those absurd stories? he inquired. There is no pus in the knee joint or anywhere else except in the wound and gland. Pus could not form and be retained without at once affecting the pulse and temperature. The glandular swelling has decreased, and the outline of the gland is now perceptible and it is discharging freely. We took out at least a teaspoonful of pus this morning. He feels better; had some chicken broth to-day and another piece of milk and toast, and seemed to enjoy and relish both.

Do you think he is better to-day than at the same hour yesterday?" "I certainly do. The expression of his face and character of his pulse is further improved, and thus far he had no fever whatever; the present condition is more favorable than at this hour yesterday."

GOING ALONG NICELY.

EXECUTIVE MANSION, 4 P. M.—The President's condition continues as favorable as when last reported upon. Mrs. Garfield was met a few moments since in the corridor, and when asked how the President was now, replied pleasantly: "Every thing is going along nicely."

EVERYTHING PROMISING.

EXECUTIVE MANSION, 5 P. M.—Doctor Boynton came from the sick room a short time since and said the President was improving and all were now hopeful of his ultimate recovery. He was quickly followed by Doctor Bliss who said everything was very promising. "The President's pulse," said Doctor Bliss, is now 104 and it is as soft and natural as could be desired. He is sleeping quietly, his skin is moist and his face looks bright and pleased."

"You regard his case as one of the most miraculous in the history of surgery, I dare say," observed the reporter.

"Yes, sir. He went down as near to death's door on Saturday as I ever expect man to go without dying."

THE LATEST.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—Blaine to Lowell. At half-past ten to-night the condition of the President is favorable. Late in the afternoon his pulse was 112 and temperature to 100. Both are a little higher than the surgeons expected. His pulse has now fallen to 108, and is still subsiding. The parotid swelling is steadily improving, or at least diminishing, and grows less every hour.

'Twas Public Business.

New York, Aug. 29.—Postmaster James paid a hurried visit to this city Saturday evening and almost as quietly returned to his post of duty at Washington. Various rumors are afloat as to the cause of his visit, the main belief being that on behalf of the other members of the Cabinet, James had been sent out with a personal request that Arthur should proceed to Washington to be prepared for any emergency that might arise in consequence of the fully anticipated death of the President. Col. Geo. Bliss, who was present at the interview which took place between James and Vice-President Arthur, said to a reporter this afternoon: "James had an object in coming on Saturday, and I don't deny that it was on public business, but I do say the newspapers are all off the track in regard to his mission. Of course the condition of the President was talked of, but his presence had no connection with Gen. Arthur going to Washington either to see the President, or to assume duties of his office, as has been before intimated. Gen. Arthur takes his own counsel in regard to this delicate matter, and I know full well he will not visit Washington for any such purpose unless asked to do so by the President. What transpired in the short interview which took place between James and Arthur is not for the public to know through me. With the statement you must excuse me."

"Did you know of Postmaster-General James' intention of coming to New York before he arrived?"

"Well, I suppose I did and it was not a surprise to General Arthur."

Way Down in Georgia.

Chicago, Aug. 29.—The Journal thus alludes to its Chattanooga special: "Glowing accounts come north of the discovery of gold in paying quantities in the Georgia beds of the Chatelaine and Chatahoochee Rivers. We are told they are so rich in gold that the very sands on the shore yield the precious metal. Gold lies in greatest quantities in the mud beds of the streams, from whence it is forced to the decks of mining boats by air pressure, easily and rapidly, it is said, and no doubt correctly. A large quantity of mud can be mined in a day. A declining boat is in process of construction, which is confidently expected to take $10,000 worth of bullion from the beds of the rivers in a day. When these boats get to work the public will hear more about the Georgia find, and whether it is a veritable gold mine or not."

Trans-Oceanic Transpirings.

FOREIGN SYMPATHY.
London, Aug. 29.—The Bishop of Tennessee, preaching at Seaford Sunday, referred to the spirit abroad in the world to put down all authority that the dying President was a Christian. He was a man who might be killed but not seduced from right.

SORROW OF SWITZERLAND.

Berne, Aug. 29.—The President of the Swiss Confederacy on receiving U. S. Minister Cramer expressed the sorrow and anger of Switzerland at the act which brought President Garfield to the brink of the tomb and earnest hope for his recovery.

PAUL BERT'S LECTURE.

Paris, Aug. 29.—Paul Bert's lecture on educational topics was a violent attack on the Catholic religion and its system of education. The presence of Gambetta on such an occasion was considered significant, particularly as after his return he lauded Bert as one who not only had antecedent but a future.

Church Burned.

Ogdensburg, Aug. 29.—The State Street Baptist church burned to-day. Loss, $20,000.

Indian Dancers.

Clintonville, Wis., Aug. 29.—The excitement about the Indians has not abated. The Dreamers are still keeping up the dance. The latest from Keshan is that the peaceable Menominees have been driven away and Agent Stephens with one daughter is a prisoner at the agency, the only white persons there. Troops have been ordered and are expected on every train. Old Shabedock, a Pottawottamie chief who was with General Winfield Scott in the war which occurred about thirty-five years ago has been to see them and reports them "bad Indians."

A Determined Official.

Cleveland, Ohio, Aug. 29.—The determined but reticent railway official, during last night's fire, had a train of burning cars moved a distance of several hundred yards from the fire. The action at the time was incomprehensible but now is known. One car was heavily loaded with powder, which the official feared would explode. The cars however were pulled out in time, which prevented an explosion.

Blown to Atoms.

WASHINGTON, D. C., AUG. 29.—The Secretary of the Navy received a dispatch from Commander Thomas Oelfrido, announcing the killing of Lieut. Commander B. L. Elder and Lieut. Eymann G. Spring, by the premature explosion of a torpedo this forenoon at the Torpedo Station, Newport, R. I. Both bodies were blown almost to atoms.

Ventilation No Good.

Plymouth, Aug. 29.—Evidence elicited by the Court of Equity in the destruction of the sloop "Dateral" in the Straits of Magellan, goes to show lack of proper ventilation in the magazines, and absence of strict inspection by those responsible for such matters.

Gone Down.

NEW YORK, AUG. 29.—It is reported that the steamer "State of New York," of the New York and Hartford line, sunk in the Connecticut River near Goodspeed Landing.
